

Chief Minister launches 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas' edition of the 'Uttar Pradesh Sandesh', magazine published by the Information Department

Benefitting the last man standing through government schemes a priority of the present state government : CM

The magazine should be sent to each and every level of people's representatives

Arrangements should be made to provide the magazine to all government offices and academies

To ensure easy reach to the readers, arrangement should be made with the Postal department

Lucknow : 17 May, 2017

Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath ji today unveiled the 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas', edition of the magazine 'Uttar Pradesh Sandesh', published by the Department of Information and Public Relations, at Shastri Bhawan.

On this occasion, the Chief Minister said that publishing of the magazine on the credo of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas', with the motto of taking it to every nook and corner of the state was a commendable work. The present state government was committed to providing the benefits of government welfare schemes to the last man standing, the chief minister stated.

He also expressed hope that in times to come, the magazine will emerge as a messenger of government policies and schemes and will reach out to the people. Yogi ji also directed the officers to ensure that this magazine reaches all level of people's representatives like gram pradhan's, district panchayat heads, corporations at municipal corporations, chairpersons, mayors, legislators and MPs.

With this, he said, the magazine should also be sent to all government offices and as per requirement to academies and to ensure that they reach easily to the readers, they should also be sent in arrangement with the postal department. The Chief Minister further observed that with the increase in the readership of this magazine, people will get to know of the various developments and welfare schemes run for the poor by the state government and people will also be encouraged to avail the benefits from these schemes.

Also present on the occasion were Minister of State for Information Dr. Neelkanth Tiwari, Chief Secretary Mr. Rahul Bhatnagar, Principal Secretary (Information) Mr. Avanish Kumar Awasthi, Principal Secretary (Home) Mr. Debashish Panda, Director (Information) Mr. Sudhesh Kumar Ojha, Special Secretary Mr. RP Singh and others.
